

Group 11 // Defunct_Refunk

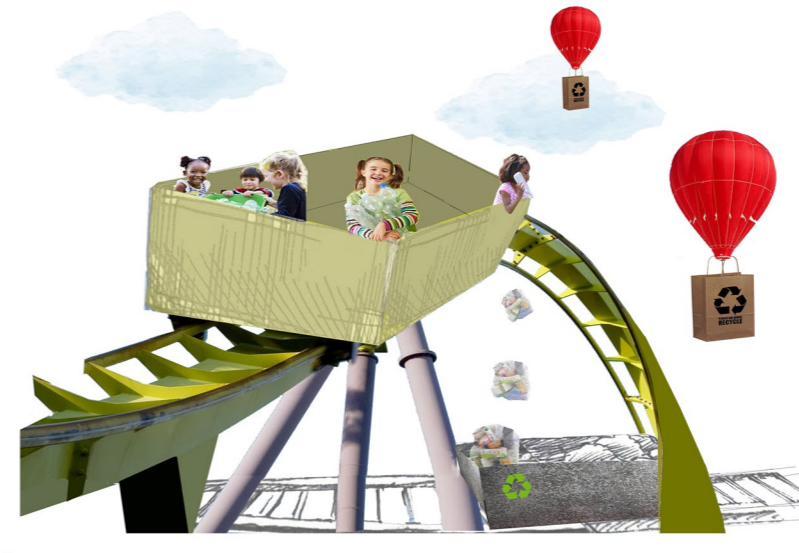

An elevated structure which references the roller coasters of the past will bring the town back to life by providing not only an exciting new path to reconnect people, but also a recycling rail system passing through an environmentally friendly green corridor.

Gorton is currently a neglected, forgotten and fragmented neighbourhood. Its high street provides a relentless access route to Manchester, while also disconnecting the urban environment and obstructing the social life of the people.

Although the strong environmental identity can still be found in its local thriving reservoir park and in its historical background with the proximity to one of the best amusement parks of the 20th century.

ELEVATED GREEN PATHWAY

RECYCLING RAILWAY

